Johnstown Road Elementary Challenge

“Good Better Best, Never Let It Rest, ‘Til Your Good Is Better, and Your Better Is Your Best”

Simple words, yet if we teach our students to live by this motto, they will achieve more. This adage is based on the idea that students need to demand more of themselves, to see themselves as solid students. Effective students, like effective schools, live by high standards. Our students need to see themselves as effective learners. Both home and school must work together to help students take responsibility for their learning and to sharpen their self-demand for excellence.

Teach your child to live by high standards. Help them to shape their vision, goals, and perceptions of success. Hold them accountable to produce their best work at all times. Teach them a “can-do” attitude. Clearly, I can not overstress “attitude”. More could be accomplished if less were thought to be impossible.... Nothing is impossible!

As educators, our greatest challenge is getting students to take advantage of the education that is being offered. I challenge each parent, guardian, mentor and educator to help our students believe they are capable of academic success and that anything less than their best effort is not acceptable.

Remind them that they are capable of being CHAMPIONS at Johnsontown Road Elementary and in life!
